What Happens In May...

by The Macallan

M4K Omaha does not just help kids; it also creates them.

"When he was born, I swear to God he had sideburns!" brags Patrick Wyman of his son Howie Dewen Covi. "The first time I went to get him from the nursery at the hospital, he was clutching a little slip of paper. It was the phone number of the baby girl in the bassinet next to him. Howie Dewen? Just fine, thank you".

"He was 14 lbs when he was born. He wasn't more than an hour old when he farted at the delivery room nurse and busted up laughing" claims George Svagera of his son Beerch Acer Svagera. "I came up with the first name because when I am eating beer cheese soup and someone asks me what I am eating, that's usually all I get out of my mouth before I shove another spoonful in".

"My daughter? Well, here's the thing..." boasts second year Selleck Tyson Wiegel. "I really didn't know what to expect when joining M4K last year, but I know now that the mustache has a mind of its own." Wiegel and his wife expanded their family this past winter. "One month of mustache growth turned into 9 months later and we welcomed our sweet lil' St. Ache Wiegel."

The M4K mustache-fueled baby boom has been well documented. A few of our proud papas would like to tell you about their newest additions, how they came up with the unique names, and to warn you new growers just what might happen during May.

"This is my daughter Tess" beams six-time Selleck Matt Scarsi. "Her full name? Tess Stosterone Scarsi. Her middle name comes from her grandmother's side. It was the little Sicilian village she grew up in."

Our final baby introduction comes from Joe Bartek. He has a beautiful 8 year old daughter whose name came to him in a dream. "Back in 2011, I was eating some bacon in bed after a "wrestling match" with my wife. It's better for you than a cigarette. Anyway, I dreamt I was eating bacon all night and woke up thinking 'Dang, I would like to be around crispy bacon every day if I could'". So there you have it. His daughter may never tell her friends, but her birth certificate will always read Chris Pebacon Bartek.

CHECKPOINT #3 RECAP

FOUL BALLS!!!

Not like at Pipeline, thank God, just the baseball type. Its the bottom of the 6th and we announced a 3 week total just north of $450,000.

Homerun? Not quite, but its a stand up triple.

Now we need every single grower to drive us home and knock this one outta the park. Baseball.

Time to focus our attention on the Sellecks of the hour - here's the major milestones for week 3:

5th Year: Kurt Mehlin

1st Year: Paul Graham, Bryan Busteed, Kenny Downing, Josh Farris, Chris Gannon, Nathan Gingles, John Grose, Casey Hansen, Travis Knutson, Gabe Kopun, Randy Kuszak, JD Smeal, Jeremy Stanislaw, Samuel Snider, Todd Williams, Jarrett Thomas, Josh Tanzer, Mel Stuart, Steve Stott

I Smell A Match Comin'

May has a little something for everyone.

Men love to compete. You hear growers challenging each other to be the first to raise $2000. Sometimes 2 idiots bet on who "can touch that vent in the ceiling." You can even see it at volleyball tournaments or any one of a dozen bags tournaments this weekend.

Women? Well women love mustaches, and if the last 10 years of February baby-booms tell us anything, it's that they love mustaches that raise boatloads of cash for kids.

So what about the kids? They love being able to hangout at baseball games and riding huge giants through a sports bar. Most importantly, they love FLASH MATCHES.

And here at The Monitor, we love our readers. So... how about an early heads up on today's Raffle Match!

Sounds like a win-win-win-win to us.

#FAMILYNIGHTFUN

Family Night is welcome breath of fresh air, and for once fresh breath, to the Checkpoint Season. We caught up with some of the growers' own kids to see what they thought about #MustacheMay.

What's the best thing about your dad growing a mustache?

"I kept a list all year and lots of kids' dads got beat up this week."

"My mom always tells me when my dad gets home I'm in trouble, but dad only comes home like 3 nights a week"

"Not just my dad but my mom is in a great mood every morning too."

Are there any drawbacks to your dad's mustache?

"He tried fixing the dishwasher and now the microwave doesn't work and I have to wash dishes to earn Fortnite time"

"We're not allowed to call him Dad in May - only 'The Commodore'"

"I lost my allowance because he 'can't catch Zeke giving me $10 a week. What's a Zeke?"

Awesome Coloring Book

You plan on watching Rocky conquer the Russians again, like you should, this Memorial Day weekend. Don't let your kids asking for that damn Baby Shark cartoon keep you from your duty as a proud citizen. The solution? Snag some free crayons from Denny's on your way home to your hard earned three-day weekend and raise your kids right by giving them these mustache coloring book pages. Then go and take some time to yourself on the couch in your American flag shorts with a cold one by your side (and enjoy the Grand Slam you also picked up at Denny's).
